Working Remotely

Amarillo College will return to tech-supported learning for the students starting October 26, 2020, and will go until May 14, 2021. However, faculty are required to come to campus to teach classes from their offices or classroom. Faculty can teach from home if they have a better set-up to teach from home. Faculty will need to maintain on-campus office hours. Classified and Administrative staff will still come to campus to continue working their regular work schedule.

Any faculty or staff not wanting to work on campus will need to contact Human Resources at humanresources@actx.edu or (806) 371-5040.

Working Remotely

Instructors should extend grace to student with “legitimate” COVID reasons. However, it is up to the instructor on whether they want to give an incomplete or not. Outside of COVID an incomplete should not be given unless it’s well documented and only a small portion of the course material was missed.
